

FREE PRO SE CLINIC

South Dakota's Unified Judicial System (UJS) and Access to Justice, a program of South Dakota's State Bar Association, are working together to offer free clinics to members of the public who are representing themselves or considering representing themselves in divorce and other domestic legal actions. The informational clinics will assist with the completion of UJS-approved pro se forms only and will provide a general overview regarding the legal process. Legal advice will not be provided nor will an attorney/client relationship be established.

READ: Before you arrive at the clinic read the following: 1) Going Solo: Representing Yourself in the South Dakota Courts; and 2) your pro se forms and accompanying instructions. The forms may be downloaded for free at <http://ujls.sd.gov/forms/default.aspx> or purchased at a clerk of court office.

BRING: Bring two complete sets of your unmarked UJS-approved pro se forms to the clinic for completion. One set will serve as your working copy. Information can be transferred onto the second set, which you file in the clerk of court's office. Write any questions down that you may have.

CHILDREN: Childcare will not be provided, so please make arrangements for childcare in advance.
